Another option for your tour group is the award-winning Epic Tour, which should be booked in advance, is an interactive fun guided tour of the Viking Triangle, accessing five national monuments (duration 45 minutes). The larger-than-life guide speeds you through the streets and through 1100 years of Waterford's history from the Vikings to the Victorians. Indulge your inner actor - you might get to be Strongbow or Aoife and get married, you might be Thomas Francis Meagher flying the Irish flag for the first time in Ireland.

This guided tour, the 'Epic Tour', includes access to five national monuments ranging in date from 1190AD to 1783, it is a wonderful way for visitors to get an overview of Irish history both the historic and archaeological treasures and also experience the developments in architecture over a period of a thousand years as visitor's transverse the Viking Triangle. We market the experience as 'From the Vikings to the Victorians - A thousand years of History in a Thousand Paces'.

The visit includes Reginald's Tower first mentioned in 1088, Greyfriars Medieval Franciscan friary 1240, Choristers' Hall 1274, the Mayor's Wine Vault 1448, the Bishop's Palace 1741 and if there is not a church service in progress then Christ Church Cathedral 1773 is also included. It's a fun engaging tour and includes many props to engage and entertain the visitors with numerous photo opportunities.
